

How to Play: One member of the unit or the Guider is the reader and has access to the stories below. Without reading the story to the other members of the unit, the reader will call out the type of words needed to fill in the blank spaces (eg. noun, Guider's Name). Without looking at the story, the rest of the unit will call out words that correspond with the type of word needed. The reader will type the 1 word into each of the blank spaces. Once all the spaces have been filled, the reader will read the whole story, including the newly added words.

Outdoor Meetings

The start of this Guiding year was a bit different. When going to meetings, our uniforms now included _____ (noun). Everyone had a different color and size, but my favourite was _____ (Guider Name)'s with _____ (plural fruit) and _____ (plural animal) drawn on it. We also had to meet outside for a few months. One time, we saw a _____ (least favourite colour) _____ (object you'd find in a kitchen) flying in the sky! We played games like _____ (name of a game) and "Don't Poke the _____ (noun)" and hot _____ (food). Our unit even told stories about camp _____ (stationery item). My friend told me a story about the time she got stung in the _____ (body part) by a _____ (insect)! We all felt _____ (emotion) so hard we did _____ (name of an exercise). Even though we all stayed _____ (number greater than 6) feet apart, we had a lot of fun together.

Online Meeting

When we first started our meetings online, things were a little _____ (adjective). Now, our group has a lot of fun in our calls, which happen _____ (number) times every month. _____ (Guider's Name) joined the video chat and accidentally renamed herself _____ (Name of a Celebrity). We all laughed until we dropped our _____ (plural food). Our unit loves playing online games like _____ (name of a virtual game) and Draw The _____ (fruit). When my friend turned her camera off, we noticed her profile picture was a photo of a breakdancing can of _____ (food). We also talk about what is going on in our _____ (adjective) lives. Yesterday, _____ (Name of a member of our unit) told me she dropped a bowl of _____ (noun) on her brother's head! Although sometimes my WIFI lags because of _____ (plural animal) in my computer, I'm so glad to get to see my friends!

Cookie Selling

We couldn't sell cookies door to door this year, but I emailed my friends and relatives so that they could buy it from the website. _____ (name) couldn't buy a box, but they gave me _____ (number) dollars and I gave her _____ (number) cookie(s). When I asked my Aunt _____ (Name), she got three boxes for her friends at _____ (name of a company). The group of _____ (barn animal) I met at _____ (name of a store) a few months ago bought _____ (number) cases. Later that week, my Aunt called me and told me she ate _____ (a large number) of cookies in one sitting! My Uncle _____ (name) asked me if we sell _____ (food that is not cookies)! I said "No, you _____ (adjective) _____ (animal), we only sell cookies!"
